CON-OLIDATED SCHOOLS

We read with great interest the few points taken from the paper which was read by Principal McMeekin of Staveland at the Macleod Teachers' Convention upon the consolidation of public schools, and we wished we could have heard or read the whole paper. A system such as this which has been widely in use in some of the eastern provinces and in the U.S. is not in its experimental stage now. It has passed from that and is recognized as forming a "splendid solution of the problem of educating all the children of sparsely settled country districts. So many country districts have their schools closed entirely the whole of the year, simply because there is not the required number to warrant keeping the school open. That excuse for closing a country school is all very well, but what about the children who remain in the district? They simply have to be neglected. And a year or two of neglect in the life of a child puts it behind for all time. There are several schools closed around this district, and no doubt there are a number of children losing valuable time owing to their school being closed.

Take this and the surrounding school districts as an example. Under the consolidated schools system our village would be the centre and the school would be enlarged to accommodate the increased number of scholars which could be reinforced by the number of children brought in from the surrounding districts.

It would not be a bad idea for the neighboring school councils to consider the subject. A little correspondence through the columns of our paper would not be out of place either, seeing that the matter concerns the whole constituency.

THE NANKING MASSACRE

The road to freedom and knowledge is ever the road of suffering. No cross no crown appears to be true in regard to every walk in life. The Chinese rebels against the Manchurian Dynasty are gaining ground all along the line. The Manchu soldiers, however, do not appear to be the least bit civilized; indeed, they have proved to be the most cruel and barbarous of barbarians. Women and children were slain unmercifully. It is said that every Chinese home is a burning funeral pyre in that thickly populated city. There is no doubt that the rebel party will punish the Manchus severely for this slaughter. Even Chinese women around Nanking have vowed vengeance for the slaughter of innocents; arms are being issued to them, and it is likely that the worst news is yet to come.

THE GREAT CHINOOK

Sir John Richardson, who was living at Fort Enterprise, near the Arctic Circle, latitude 65° and longitude about 115, witnessing before a senate committee in 1887, said "he thought the chinook winds were as far north in 1819." He also added: "An I the grand south-west winds that God is sending on our country never vary, because they are a fixed circuit, and no outside circumstances vary them." He also gave as his opinion that the chinook is the lodgment of the nature of monsoons. They are the winds drawn in from the Gulf of Mexico and from the Gulf of California, and the great American desert is the cause of their being drawn in, and is literally the disperser of them to the north. It was also declared before the commission that the influence of the beneficent chinook was felt as far east as Moosejaw, 500 miles east of the Rocky Mountains. It was declared before the commission that "The chinook prevails down as far as the mouth of the Mackenzie river, because when the current of air gets moving it cannot be stopped without a force greater than itself intervenes, which is a stream of air of a colder nature, and the two have to be stopped; consequently explorers have found that when those winds blow they changed the whole aspect of affairs in winter time. Instead of those little winds coming through the passes of the mountains, I maintain that there is a rush of warm air and moisture forced up from the Gulf of Mexico on the one hand, and from Southern California on the other, which passes west of the mountains, one part to the country south and the other part down the Mackenzie River valley, and if you choose out into the Arctic Ocean." Thus we have an explanation of the famous chinook which this southern country is fond of boasting about.

HE DID IT QUICK

We were rather surprised on reading the decision of Judge Stuart regarding the Great Waterways case, to learn that he had not been able to give the time to the case which it deserved, owing to daily court business. The question arises: If he had not time to consider the matter so as to give an authoritative decision, why did he hurry to decide at all? It surely is not satisfactory to either party to learn that a decision was hastily given. It will not strengthen the present government at all. Indeed it will lead color to the idea that Justice Stuart hurried to decide in time for the meeting of the legislature, and the decision happens to be in favor of the present government.

It, however, has given the opposition a very strong case, which they will not be slow to take advantage of. There still appears to be great danger of the higher courts making the Province foul the bill. It may yet have to abide by the transactions made by the Rutherford government, whether they were wise or not. There is one thing certain, the banks are not likely to hand over the huge pile of money entrusted to their care upon the half-hearted decision of a judge who confessed he had not been able to give proper thought and consideration to the matter.

Typoid and Precaution

The lessons to be learned from the investigations of Dr. Bevell as to the cause of the recent outbreak of typhoid fever are two-fold. First, the absolute need of a closer supervision by the health authorities on our milk supplies, and the enforcing of more stringent regulations. Second, the necessity of a sense of individual responsibility

SUFFERERS FROM PILES!

Zam-Buk Has Cured These

Proction on the hemorrhoidal veins that are swollen, inflamed and gorged with blood, is what causes the terrible pain and itching and smarting. Zam-Buk cures it in a few minutes. Thousands of persons have recovered like this. Why not be guided by the experience of others?

Mr. Thomas Pearson, of Prince Albert, Sask., writes: "I have suffered from the hemorrhoids for many years. I have tried many remedies, but have not been cured. I have received from Zam-Buk, last summer, a box of ointment. I started to use it and found it gave me relief. I continued to use it, and after using four or five boxes I am pleased to say it has effected a complete cure."

Mr. G. A. Dufresne, 183-185 St. Joseph Street, St. Roch, Que., P. Q., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to any one who suffers from piles."

Mr. J. H. Keston, of Upper Nine Mile River, Maine Co., N. B., writes: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. I tried various ointments, but nothing I tried failed to do me the slightest good. I was tired of trying various remedies when I heard of Zam-Buk and bought a box. I used it and found it gave me relief. After a very short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for all injuries and diseases, such as rheumatism, various cuts, burns, bruises, chaps, colds, sore throats, etc. It has all the ingredients of a cure, and is sold from Zam-Buk's stores, or sent by mail. Beware of cheap imitations. Try Zam-Buk ointment, 25c. bottle.

The Worth of Health

A man's best asset is his health, for without health he is unable to do anything useful, and of practically no account. It is the only asset that is capable of being lost, and the most of the life one must be physically sound, as the greatest wealth and highest enjoyment have health as a basis.

The nation is an aggregation of individuals, and in great measure the combined assets of its citizens, and the greatest part of a nation's wealth consists of the health of its people. How large a contributor to national wealth is public health, is shown by the conclusion arrived at by Dr. Wiley, an authority on public health in the United States.

These are the factors which produce Dr. Wiley's estimate of the value of the health of the people of the United States which is placed at the almost incomprehensible sum of five hundred and forty millions of dollars.

Public health is therefore, one of the most important factors in the life of a nation, and the most of the life one must be physically sound, as the greatest wealth and highest enjoyment have health as a basis.

Owing to snow and unfavorable weather, the past week, threshing was somewhat interrupted, but has again been resumed, working from early morn till late at night.

A good laugh, a long laugh and a hearty laugh is in store for those who are wise enough to visit Coleraine school house the last Friday in December.

Miss Ripley of Nanton sang the beautiful solo, "Shepherd Divine," on Sunday night in the Methodist church, which was much appreciated, and bespeaks much for her future.

S. L. Taube, of the Taube Optical Co., Calgary, will be at the Cayley Drug Store on Friday, November 24th. If you have eye trouble of any kind be sure to consult him.

A special meeting of the local Bible Society will be held Friday night at 8.30, in the Methodist church. All members of the committee are requested to attend as important business will be discussed.

The harvest thanksgiving services in the Methodist church last Sunday were well attended and the discourses by the pastor, the Rev. O. E. Mann, were very much appreciated. The singing was also of a high order.

On Monday morning, from the east of Cayley, came up suddenly a very heavy fog, which gradually worked its way to the West, and about 4.30 p.m. it reached here, the village being thickly enveloped in the vapory atmosphere, lasting for some three hours, when it passed off to the north-west.

Mrs. W. Allan and family are visiting friends in Parkland. Billy is getting a bit lonesome, besides having to do his own cooking—but, mercy, he is alive through it all. It is reported that a home-made dumpling was found on the track the other day, just outside the station house, blocking up a runaway freight car.

On Wednesday night the Bible class of the Presbyterian church met for organization. The officers elected were as follows: D. Sinclair, president; Miss Lobban, vice-pres.; Miss Caspell, sec.; I. Beisagel, treas.; Rev. Beaton, convener of devotional com.; Mr. Lyall, membership; Miss Couey, social. The present membership are asked, together with all interested, to hand in their names to be placed on the charter roll. At 7.30 on Wednesday, this week there will be a meeting to complete organization, then the committee will get down to business.

A meeting of the Temperance and Moral Reform League will be held in Cayley on Thursday, Nov. 30th. The Rev. Mr. Fortune, general secretary of the League, will be present and address the meeting. It is expected that among other very important subjects to be discussed will be the Cayley hotel license. Let there be a big turnout.

The Rev. D. Keith, Principal of the Ladies' College about to be started in Red Deer, will be the preacher at the morning service in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, the 26th. This will give everybody an opportunity to become acquainted with one who will have largely to do in moulding the character of the future women of Alberta. The Rev. J. M. Beaton will conduct the service at 7.30.

P. Stevens, formerly of Montana, but who now lives south-east of Cayley, is a well pleased man and is heartily shaking hands with himself that he came to this district. He purchased a farm here at $3.00 per acre. He has just finished threshing his oats which has paid him $32.00 per acre, thus nearly paying for his farm with his first season's crop. He came from a district where farm land was selling at $15.00 per acre, which did not yield anything like the crop his Cayley farm had done. It is needless to say that Cayley farm land looks good to him, and he is now boasting this district to his friends and late neighbors on the other side.

TYPHOID AND PRECAUTION

danger in milk in this respect than in water. For though water may carry the germs of typhoid, scarlet fever and tuberculosis—these are the latter the danger looks there. There is not the slightest doubt that our sanitary authorities should carefully watch over our milk and water supplies, but, at the same time, the public should trust to their own means for making their health doubly secure. Too much importance cannot be placed on this. Carelessness with regard to drinking water and milk is far too apparent. It is not uncommon thing to see in public places people making use of one glass for drinking, and with no concern, either as to the previous user, or as to the source from whence the water came. In how many houses are there filters, or in how many is the water boiled?

We should venture to say that the percentage is small. There is a carelessness and a placing of too much faith in the purity of water and milk looked after by our public authorities. There is no sufficient individual responsibility. It may possibly be the fault of the system of too paternal governments. We rely too much on having things done for us. With regard to this, it would be well to note that while the death rate from diseases which may be prevented by the sanitarian has declined considerably in recent years, that from non-contagious diseases is increasing. These are diseases caused by overwork, hard living and indifference to diet. We merely make mention of this fact to emphasize our remarks as to individual responsibility. In these non-contagious or chronic diseases there is no sanitary legislation. The individual is thrown back on himself, and having all things, so to speak, ordered for him, he has got into the condition of not exercising too much personal thought in the matter of health.

Let each person bear in mind that in looking after his own health he is safeguarding that of the general public. Medical authorities have stated that acute diseases are accidents. They overtake the individual, whenever a germ happens to strike him in a rundown condition. This condition can in a great degree be prevented by taking personal precautions and giving the subject of health more personal consideration than some people do.

Let the lessons of the present epidemic be taken seriously to heart, and more care be exercised in the use of such every day necessities as milk and water.—Lethbridge Herald.

A BARGAIN INDEED

It would be impossible to figure what a benefit The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal has been to the West. It affords the greatest amount of genuine good reading for every member of the family and its benefits to the farming community in its agricultural pages are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. It is not merely a theoretical paper. It is a practical farm paper in every respect and there is no farmer in Canada who cannot profit by reading it.

Two cents a week, one dollar a year—the price of one bushel of wheat for a whole year's subscription to this great paper, not to speak of the beautiful premium picture "Home Again," size 22x29 inches, ready for framing. It makes one wonder if the publishers pay their paper bills. Any home in this western country that does not receive the Family Herald and Weekly Star for 1912 will miss a bargain indeed.
